SWEETWATER WETLANDS
AND HIGHLANDS CENTER FOR NATURAL HISTORY
Submitted: October 26, 2015

Jerry and Corinne Shaw photographed this Green Heron during a visit to Sweetwater Wetlands in Tucson.
They also captured the elegance of this serious looking Owl and Bald Eagle when Liberty Wildlife Rescue visited the Highland Center for Natural History, on October 24th, 2015.

Probably everyone has Quail pictures, but thought I'd send them anyway because we love the quail. We keep the seed dish under the fire pit so it will stay dry in the rain (at least that's the theory). Anyway, behind the fire pit is a large rock we call "Pride Rock" because the quail love to stand on it. This morning the light was at the right angle to get a picture of the quail's face. He knows he is very handsome.
