Artists and Biologists Unite for Nature (ABUN)
The efforts to preserve the Granite Dells, the scenic Prescott landmark and popular recreation area, from a proposed housing development has gone viral. The plight of this iconic landscape has attracted international attention from ABUN. Started by Kitty Harvill and Christoph Hrdina in 2016, ABUN focuses on the conservation of endangered species and their respective habitats. For the first time ever, ABUN is focusing on a threatened landscape, the Granite Dells.

The Granite Dells Preservation Foundation (GDPF) is a non-profit founded in 2010 and dedicated to protecting the scenic and ecological integrity of the Granite Dells through fund-raising, education, and collaborative stewardship. It is not involved in the political actions being undertaken with respect to the threats of Arizona Eco Development's annexation proposal but instead maintains the larger-picture goal of acquiring more land for a Granite Dells Regional Park and Preserve. There are still some large ranch holdings that could potentially be acquired to complete a system of open space and trails that would keep the ecosystem intact and functioning, providing ecological services to the area, recreation (a major economic driver), and protection of native wildlife.
